Invitation: Mary White and I are looking forward to meeting you at Ghost Ranch this summer and making beautiful glass windows with you. Mary and I were instrumental in helping Olive and Dale Smith redesign the new glass studio on “higher ground” after the old studio was destroyed by a flash flood in 2017 and we are both committed to making the revitalized glass program absolutely the best that can be offered. We invite you to join us on a fun and meditative exploration. Making a glass window is a practice who anyone with love of color and light can do! You can enjoy the process if you have not had experience with glass or art, or are a seasoned artist.

Learning Outcomes:

- Participants will be able to create stained panels on their own after completing this course.
- Participants will practice new possibilities and approaches to the stained glass medium.
- Participants can expect attentive and skilled instructors.
- Participants will know how to use all of the materials and tools used to assemble a stained glass window.

Instructor Background: I bring over 45 years of teaching stained glass to you. I had a wonderful opportunity to study in France with Roger Daricarrera, as well as with Judy North (Raffael) in California. I am presently teaching lamp work bead making and fusing in my home studio. Returning to my first love of stained glass was like putting on a pair of comfortable shoes. I am used to classes of 16, teaching beginners as well as advanced students. My gift is that I have not forgotten the “beginners mind.”
