Welcome to your 2026, 3-Week Painting Intensive!

I am so delighted you have registered to join me in this one-of-a-kind workshop experience. This is the 3rd year of my class here at Ghost Ranch, and I can only imagine how great its going to be. The past three years generated wonderful new "Art Friend" connections, lots of laughter and meaningful conversations on top of dozens of beautiful works of art from all the participants!

Please see the materials list for items that you will need to bring. Think of it as a jumping off place to not to forget anything essential. But just know you have weeks to settle in and explore, so don't forget your creature comforts and lots of materials to work with!

Weather is wonderfully unpredictable in January. Warm layers are essential. I strongly recommend warm boots, hats, scarves and gloves. Most students find that having dry comfortable shoes parked at your table in the studio, make for more comfortable studio time and helps prevent mud and water from being all over the carpeted classroom. It has snowed each year, so eventual mud is a probability.

Come expecting a life changing art experience!!

Workshop Itinerary:

Be prepared to work, learn and paint hard every morning from 9am-noon. After lunch we will go back to the studio to practice what I preached. Of course, you are welcome to take as much free time as you want! There will be no class after dinner, although the studio will be open.

Weekends are open, and I encourage you to enjoy the ranch, get off and sightsee, and maybe spend a little more time in the studio...
